

TIM REID'S AV RIDER

Over the last however many years, Tim's given more than 1000 presentations to groups of all sizes. During that time, he's figured out what works and what doesn't. To get the most out of working with Tim, he's put together this list of requirements and suggestions. He asks that the person responsible for the event actively confirm that you'll make these things happen.

AV Test

Tim is happy (in fact loves!) to do an AV check at least an hour prior to his scheduled time, and preferably with no delegates / audience members in the room. He likes to keep hoss powder dry!

Presentation Style

Tim is full of energy and fun. He wanders the stage, rarely stands behind the lectern and loves a laugh, whilst imparting highly useful marketing stories and ideas. His slide decks contain embedded audio and video.

Equipment Required

- Tim requires his MacBook Pro on stage with him (he'll bring a VGA adapter however it has a HDMI port), placed on a plinth centre stage (not on the lectern - he doesn't use a lectern). This allows him access to interact with his computer).
- Yep, he has embedded videos so will need connection to audio
- His slide deck is 16:9
- He'll bring his own clicker (it's a superstitious thing!)
- For groups of 20 or more, Tim requires a microphone. He prefers a headset over wireless lapel, as he tends to wander and gesticulate (but he can work with either) ... just no handhelds (except for audience Q&A)
- And if he does a Q&A, then a roving mic or two hits the spot
- Finally, a couple of bottles of non-chilled water on stage with him, in order to wet his whistle is appreciated

Screen Format

Please advise Tim at least one week ahead of his session if the screen format is not 16:9, as his slides are.

Software Used

Tim uses Apple Keynote for all his presentations and is often not in a position to migrate them across to PowerPoint prior to the conference or to adapt them to a general conference template.

Room Lighting

Lights on enough so as Tim can easily see the faces of your wonderful delegates.

Q&A

Tim loves to do a Q&A from the stage after his keynote. Please have at least two handhelds at the ready, so as one can be in use, and the second can be with the next person to ask a question. This saves time and awkward silences.

Emcee Introduction

If you've not already received it just email Tim and we'll send it through ... tim@timreid.com.au

Recording

Tim normally permits all of his presentations to be recorded. Please discuss with him directly prior to the event

Arrival Time

Tim normally arrives no later than one-hour before his scheduled presentation. He will work with you to set up and test his equipment during a break prior to his presentation.
